

GLEN ECHO HOT ON THE TRAIL OF CHAUFFEUR

Mayor Garrett to Ask Indictment of Shonts' Driver.

Vivian Bell Didn't Show
Up After Scaring
Marshal.

Determination Declared to Ask Extradition on Assault Charge.

Glen Echo "has its Dutch up" and Vivian D. Bell, chauffeur for Mrs.
Theodore Shonts, will be given an idea as to what its mayor and town council can do in the matter of bringing alleged offenders to justice.

Mayor John Garrett said this morning that the grand jury of Montgomery county will be asked to indict Bell on charges of assault and violating the speed laws of Glen Echo. State's Attorney Robert Peter has taken the matter in charge and he promises to put forth his best efforts to procure an indictment. The grand jury will not convene until November.

Will Trail Bell to Lair.
Mayor Garrett said it would make no difference in what State Bell happened to be when the indictment is returned, because the governor will be furnished with requisition papers from Governor Warfield and turn over the prisoner.

Several weeks ago Bell is said to have driven Mrs. Shonts' automobile at a rate of forty miles an hour within the corporate limits of the town of Glen Echo. Town Marshal Collins attempted to make an arrest and called to the chauffeur to stop.

Scared the Marshal.
Bell, it is alleged, not only failed to stop, but steered the big touring car directly at the marshal, with the purpose, it is charged, of running over him.
This is what the charge of assault is based upon, and Mayor Garrett feels confident the grand jury will indict.

"We have every possible means of getting Bell to come to Glen Echo for trial on a charge of violating our speed laws," said Mayor Garrett, "but they all proved futile. We intend to get him into court, if it takes the rest of the year. Our laws are to be obeyed by Washingtonians as well as Maryland residents, and we will use drastic measures, if necessary, in order to bring offenders to justice."

MUTE IS STRICKEN WITH VERTIGO ON STREET

Stricken with vertigo while on the street last night, George H. Corey, of Savannah, Ga., was taken to the Emergency Hospital, and later to the Howard House, where he has been stopping with his wife for the last ten days.
Mrs. Corey reported to the police earlier in the evening that her husband, who is a mute, had been missing several hours, and that she believed he had been taken suddenly ill or lost his way and was unable to make those about him understand where he wanted to go.

Common Sense Treatment for Consumption and Lung Troubles

There is a great deal appearing in print at present regarding the universal effort to check the increasing ravages of the dread disease of tuberculosis, commonly known as consumption.

A noted doctor who has made this branch of human ailment his especial study and who conducted the famous open air camps for consumptives in the pine forests of Maine, in a recent interview, gave some very interesting comments on this subject. He says that the treatment of consumption is very simple, but that it must be continuous and diligently pursued by the patient and if this is done it is sure to cure in the primary stages and frequently even where far advanced. The main part of the treatment is exercise and the constant inhaling of pure fresh air into the lungs in such a manner as to force it into the deepest cavity and air cells of that organ.

This can be done by the habit of deep breathing drawing in the abdomen and expanding the lungs to their fullest capacity and then exhaling slowly.
This at first will cause a little dizziness, but with a few days' practice will entirely disappear. He also advises the use of a mucous membrane stimulant, and says for this latter there is nothing known to science to equal the oil obtained from the pine tree. There is now an oil of this kind which is condensed and purified. It is known to the profession as the Concentrated oil of pine. The doctor gives his famous formula for the

ALFRED G. OSBORN DIES, AGED 65

ALFRED G. OSBORN,
Who Is Dead at Brightwood After Long Career.

Well-Known Brightwood Man Succumbs to Attack of Heart Disease.

Alfred G. Osborn, who died at his residence on Brightwood avenue yesterday morning from an attack of heart disease, aged sixty-five, was one of Bright-wood's most prominent citizens. He lived in that suburb during his entire life. He had held two of the most prominent positions there. For twenty-five years he was justice of the peace, retiring only when his health prevented his performance of his official duties, and he served as postmaster for more than forty years. He was the owner of two of the largest stores in the vicinity, one dealing in groceries and the other in foddie.

Mr. Osborn was a life-long member of the Masonic order, belonging to Stansbury Chapter.
The funeral arrangements, of which the Masons will have charge, will be held from Emory Chapel next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. J.
H. Balthus and Dr. William Harper conducting the service. Interment will be at Rock Creek cemetery.

Mr. Osborn is survived by his wife.

HONOR OF UNIFORM TO BE CHAMPIONED

Determined to remove the slur cast upon the army uniform in different places of amusement and courts in the country, the War Department has called upon the Department of Justice for assistance.

Acting Secretary of War Over has asked the Attorney General to give an opinion on the point whether, since the magistrate at Plattsburg, N. Y., having declared that proprietors of an amusement house were not subject to penal punishment, they can be reached by a suit for monetary damages. The case is that of the ejection of Sergeant Higgins and a party of soldiers who were turned away from a public skating rink because they were in uniform. If action can be taken, the War Department official asks that the Attorney General designate an attorney to prosecute the case in behalf of the original givers.
It is the intention of the Department to make this a test case.

SAUNDERS DENIES OPPOSITION TO NEW MILK REGULATIONS

Statement in Which He Declares He Was Misquoted in His Address Before the Pure Food Commission.

To the Editor of The Washington Times:

I ask space in your columns to correct, as far as I may, any erroneous impression that may have been produced as to my part in the proceedings of the meetings of the Pure Food Commission, April 5, as reported in yesterday's Times.

In the first place, I had no intention to attend the meeting until requested, a short time before the hour, to accompany a gentleman from Virginia, who was deeply concerned in the action of the meeting, so far as it might affect the milk producers of his section. I did not get there until the meeting had been in progress for some time, and after Commissioner Macfarland had delivered his address and retired, consequently I did not hear the particular object of the meeting stated, and not having read the public notices of the meeting, I thought it was a meeting of the Commission for the purpose of securing expert opinion and additional information to help guide them in framing further regulations for the food supply, and open to the public, and with this impression I asked the privilege of making a few remarks. After it dawned upon me, following my remarks, that the meeting was not public, I tendered an apology to General Sternberg, the chairman, for what was entirely innocent intrusion on my part.

In Accord With Regulations.
I am entirely in accord with the idea that there should be strict enforcement of such regulations as are proper to improve the sanitary condition of the milk supply, and of every food product of the District capable of infection or adulteration, and every word uttered by General Sternberg, Dr. Wiley, and the other members of the commission could not have been received by any person in attendance without stanch approval. To report me as opposed to the proper care and protection of infants, or the safeguarding of the entire community, or to put me in the position of estimating the value of human life in dollars and cents as against the cost of milk production, was unfair to me, and, also, to those for whom I spoke.

I stated to the meeting in substance that I hoped the committee dealing with the country dairymen would give as much consideration as possible to their embarrassments, and that nothing radical would be forced upon them at short notice.

Veterinarians Still in Charge.
Several years ago, the Health Department, which has an abiding interest in the dairy industry, appointed and sent to the dairymen furnishing milk to this city veterinarians, who required them to establish sanitary barns and milk-houses under regulations of the Health Department, all of which must have been done by such producers, and certified to by the veterinary examiners before the milk could be shipped.
Tests were made by such experts, also, and the cows that were found to be unhealthy were killed, and if slightly infected, isolated from the herds. These veterinarians (district appointees) are still in charge of the dairies and herds, and require strict adherence to the regulations of the Health Department of this city.

When these requirements were fulfilled by the dairymen, and at great expense in many instances, and all of which was proper, the dairymen concluded that they were in a position to comply with the regulations.
Later on, the question of pasteuriza-tion, sterilization, reducing to low temperature, etc., came up (after they had been instructed as to how the milk should be cooled before shipping), and they were again unimpressed, and filed with apprehension, knowing full well that it would be impossible to comply with the proposed requirements.

Producers Asked His Aid.
It was these and other questions that had been agitating the farmers and producers in that section of Virginia with which I am acquainted, some of whom have asked me to say a word in their behalf, that caused me to ask the committee appointed to not deal with this phase of the pure food question in a radical way without thoroughly investigating the methods employed by the dairymen, as regulated by the Health Department.

I considered this entirely pertinent, as it was proposed that the committees should make a report within two weeks from the date of the meeting, which was hardly time, in my opinion, to give the matter thorough investigation.

Some time ago the Board of Trade discussed this question, and while it appeared that all present were ready to act on the question, it developed that many of the members were wholly unaware that the District authorities were directing the management of the dairies shipping milk to the city.
Able scientists, I may add, are on record against pasteurization or sterilization, and others doubtful of the retention of its healthful and nutritious properties by such treatment.

DUFFIN ASSAULT CASE HEARING TOMORROW

ROCKVILLE, Md., April 12.—Justice of the Peace Joseph Reading will give George Duffin a preliminary hearing here tomorrow on a charge of assaulting Francis S. Kilgour with intent to kill, several days ago. Duffin's bail was fixed at $1,000 by State's Attorney Peter.
It is thought he will be held for the grand jury and given a trial some time later. The case against Conrad Royer for poisoning stock is heard by Judge Henderson.

The physician who attended Mr. Kilgour says that the latter was not seriously injured by the negro's kicks, cuffs, and blows from an iron chain. Mr. Kilgour was in Rockville today for a short time. He is badly bruised and walks with effort.

DISCUSS OPENING OF PLAYGROUNDS

Board of Directors Meets With Full Attendance of Members.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Washington Playground Association in the Ouray building yesterday there were present Col. John Biddle, Dr. Merrill E. Gates, William H. Baldwin, Eugene E. Stevens, Charles F. Weller, Judge William H. De Lacy, Dr. Winfield S. Montgomery, Major Richard Sylvester, James E. West, Wallace Hatch, Dr. Henry S. Curtis, Dr.
William Tindall, Miss Edith C. Westcott, Miss Elizabeth Oliver, Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, Dr. Rebecca Stonerod, and Mrs. Giles S. Ratner.

Colonel Biddle spoke of the site purchased for the playground in the Northeast, and of sites offered for purchase in the Southwest and in Georgetown.
After some discussion it was decided that the sites could not be purchased until more satisfactory arrangements could be made.

Dr. Curtis spoke of the opening of the playgrounds and the desirability of opening them as soon as possible, but as the appropriation for maintenance was insufficient to maintain them for the year, he hesitated to open the grounds at present.

Dr. Curtis said that the gymnasium of the Western High School could not be used by the recreation center at present, because it was not lighted. Mr. Weller urged that every possible effort should be made to induce the authorities to put in proper lighting facilities as soon as possible, so that the gymnasium could be used by next fall at latest.

PAN-AMERICAN TRADE ONE-QUARTER OF TOTAL

Figures covering two-thirds of the current fiscal year have been issued by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor, to show that out of a total commerce of $222-000,000 for two-thirds of the year, trade with America exclusive of the United States aggregated $56,000,000, almost evenly divided between imports and exports. The latter exceeds the former by only $16,000,000 in a total of over $500,000-000. These figures do not include the movements of merchandise between the United States and Porto Rico.

During the fiscal year 1906 foreign commerce of the United States aggregated $270,000,000. Of this sum the trade with American countries amounted to $73-000,000 or 26 per cent of the total. Of the exports, valued at $134,000,000, $38,000-000, or 28 per cent went to American countries; while of the imports, valued at $136,000,000, $76,000,000, or 55 per cent, came from American countries.

BEQUEST WELCOME TO NEW THOUGHT

Yet Secretary Has Heard Nothing About Ropes
Legacy.

"We have heard nothing of such a bequest, but if Mrs. Ropes has left our organization a legacy, it will answer the prayers and hopes of eighteen years."

This is the comment made this morning by Secretary George E. Ricker of the National New Thought Center of Washington, when shown a Boston dispatch to the effect that the New Thought Center had been named as one of the beneficiaries of the will of Mrs.
Mary F. Ropes, who leaves an estate valued at $1,500,000.

Mr. Ricker said that in the past he had known a Mrs. Ropes, but was unable to say whether his acquaintance was the same as the maker of the will mentioned. Mrs. Ropes died in 1903, but left her estate intact pending the life of her sister. The latter having died last week, the estate will be divided among various educational and religious institutions, among them being Harvard University, the Essex Institute of Salem, Carlisle Indian School, and Tuskegee Institute.

The New Thought Center of Washington is devoted to metaphysical development and teachings and has been headed for the past eighteen years by Mrs. Emma Gray, president. Secretary Ricker said that he would begin inquiry at once to ascertain if Mrs. Ropes had made a bequest in favor of the society.

Every garment embraced in the gigantic assemblage we maintain at these prices could stand a material addition to the price, and be worth it. In planning for this spring we determined that not a man who came to us with a fixed idea of what he wanted in a Suit of Clothes or Topcoat—be the price $15.00 or be it $35.00—would fail to find in size, style or fabric exactly what he desired, and he, too, who was uncertain as to what he wanted, could readily be satisfied. All of which implies that our stock is comprehensively complete in every sense of the word.
